Fishing Club

PGI Fishing Club

membership@pgifishingclub.org

We welcome you to experience what our club has to offer. It's the largest and one of the most active clubs within the PGICA umbrella. The club is open to all. We have members with expertise levels that run from beginner all the way to expert class. Many of our experienced anglers enjoy and embrace helping others learn from their knowledge base. We also have a vigorous social structure within the club to keep those "part time anglers" happy too. Visit our website (www.pgifishingclub.org) and look through our recent newsletters to get a feel for our activities.

The Fishing Club meets on the second Tuesday of each month at 6:00 pm at the PGICA auditorium. At each meeting we have a subject-matter expert speak on various topics. We tap local charter captains, FWC representatives, as well as environmental issue management experts. The meeting forum allows for a healthy exchange of information, including lures, tackle, locations, and techniques. Each meeting is concluded with a small soda and cookie social where our experienced anglers make themselves available for questions and maybe even arranging trips with you.

The club also meets for a "happy hour" every Wednesday evening at 5 pm at the Ice House. It's a great forum to talk serious fishing intel!

Our annual calendar has several club fishing tournaments, picnics, seminars, and our big bash in December is our Holiday Party where we get to dress up a bit.

Contact us (membership@pgifishingclub.org) or simply attend a monthly meeting. You won't regret it. See you there!

Next Meeting is: Tuesday January 14 @ 6 pm at PGICA

FISHING REPORT For DECEMBER

By Richy Kale

It was 11am December first 2014, I had just unloaded the F250 with household items for the move to PGI had been completed. As I slipped the Ranger I boat off the trailer and into the water of Charlotte harbor I realized that my life long dream and quest was about to begin. I thought to myself 'Richy you did what other people needed you to do for 36 years, now it was my time'. I promised myself that for the next ten years I would spend as much time fishing and learning about a different type of eco system than a Jersey boy is used to and that my body and mind would allow and could handle. Well boys and girls that ended up to be about 1500 hours a year. You do the math. So with that much time floating around this harbor I often wondered did I find Mecca. I really don't know but what I do know is that I found a fish-filled harbor that was so diff from my northern species, that for the next 10 years my brain would thirst for the knowledge that each day would bring. The excitement of the chase and the culmination of the catch and release of these beautiful under water scarlet jet knibblers was so gratifying that I woke well before the alarm each day longing for the special secrets of the harbor that the harborman would release to me that day. The cherished secrets of the harbor that did flow my way were so full of information that it was jaw dropping. Of all that came to me the most profound one was to become one with the eco system don't ever try to over power it. Then and only then will the harbor mysteries no longer baffle you and will become clear as day to you . And now here is insight to what I have learned, so maybe you to can have the great success that I had in SWF. Here is a short paragraph on my 6 favorite species. 1) Snook, an ambush predator with eyes high and forward with a long muscular body and an oversized tail, it's attack is straight forward and vicious. With an oversized mouth it has no problem catching and eating large prey. Look for snook around ambush points, current breakes and drop offs, a night feeder by design, fish low light conditions for best results. 2) Redfish is a heavily shouldered thick body fish with a mouth more under than forward , which means bottom feeding is its main pattern. Look for these fish on the grass flats or bars right adjacent to the flats. They also inhabit deep Channel runs and are also in the surf. Bottom jigs and spoons work great as does shrimp crabs and minnows ... a lot of scent feeding here. 3) Triple tail - yum yum what a fish - , with a body more like a large pan fish, a small mouth and small eyes up high and front makes for a short burst feeder. This fish likes to hang around floating debris were it can easily capture its prey that is attracted to the same debris. Crabs, shrimp or small minnows are the food of choice. The crab trap lines in the gulf is a great place to start - what great and exciting site fishing. 4) Trout. This slender large head big mouth full of teeth with eyes up high and forward means for another ambush feeder. This predator lives in the shallows of the harbor, it's range is from 5 ft. to 1 ft. Trout live in weed beds, flats, drop offs and deep Channels. Bigger fish seem to go deeper with shrimp crabs and minnows filling their bellies most of the time, The dark greens or black backs and silver speckled sides make for a beautiful fish. 5) Cobia. Here is a fish that was built for excitement. With a long slender body oversized tail large head and a mouth full of sandpaper teeth makes for a great pelagic swimming and eating machine. This fish travels alone, in mating packs, and in large schools. Crabs eels and baitfish make up most of its diet. There are 2 different runs of Cobia in our harbor, spring and fall. The spring fish tend to stay shallow and cruise the shallow bars and out to about 7 feet whereas the fall runs find the fish deeper on the reefs and bridges. Either time of year look for cruising fish, what fun site fishing for big fish. Pull hard on this one. 6) Tarpon. What can I say about the fish that controlled my life for the better part of 7 years? With a deep muscular body, large head and mouth and a tail that seems 3 times to big for its body and big red eyes this fish will eat anything it can catch. The fights is long and brutal with magnificent jumps, long hard runs and down-deep slugfests. I personally can't even think of another fish when the silver king is present. I would like to personally thank Rick S for showing me the insight to these wonderful fish . I will remember the battles for the rest of my life. Thanks much Rick!

Well buckos and buckerooze it is time for me to say so long. For the longing of the semi sad eyes of a yellow and the clip clop clip clop of horse hooves in the barn pull hard on my innards and the smile apron my brides face when perched high on her mount is just too much to ignore.

So the house goes on the market 1/31/2025 and our quest to find the perfect spot will intensify. But now till the move I will spend as much time as I can on our harbor. So if you see me floating come tie up and chat a bit or go by and just toot. I would like to thank all those that graced the deck of my boat or I on theirs for the comradery and conversations that go along with the Day of fishing

The one thing that I do ask of you is to keep me a happy memory at least till I hit Rte 75 North.

Tight lines - Richy Kale

PS: Fish outside the box for there are no real rules out there and it doesn't cost anything to jerk good luck. [Editor: Richy's photos follow on the next few pages.]

Fish of the Month For JANUARY

Location, Description, Tips, Tackle and Bait

SHEEPSHEAD

Identification:

- Sheepshead can be confused with smaller black drum. They both have white and black stripes.
- The biggest difference is their teeth; sheepshead have teeth that resemble molars. Sheepshead also have a continuous dorsal fin vs split with the black drum.
- Black drum also have “whiskers” on the bottom of their mouth as they feed on off the bottom.

Locations:

- Any place where there are crustaceans; look for structure.
- Near shore reefs, any pilings with barnacles, reefs in the harbor, and mangroves.
- Interesting note (at least to me), I have seen nice size sheepshead following schools of mullet. Makes sense as sheepshead are feeding on crustaceans that come off the sandy bottom with mullet (like redfish do).

Technique:

- Need a sensitive rod to feel the nibbles. The bite is soft, keep the line tight, and a finger on the line helps too. Don't set the hook until you feel the fish has committed. They are known to strip your hook clean and it can be frustrating.
- Mangrove crabs, fiddler crabs, and small shrimp on a small strong hook will work. They have a small mouth.
- They bend the rod given their slim bodies and broad tail; nice fight given their size.

Misc:

- A very clean good eating white flaky fish.
- Are tough to fillet given the dense scales and slim body.
- Sheepshead use their “molar like” teeth to crush shells, barnacles, etc to get to the food inside. Don't underestimate the strength of the hook.

Interesting Tidbits

With the busy traveling season of the holidays this month, fewer anglers were able to get out on the water. Those that did found our Fish of the Month, Seatrout, very cooperative with more than half of our reported catches being that species. The other species of note was the arrival of Sheepshead just in time as our FOM for January. Congratulations to anglers Fred De Mella and Randy Douet who both earned another GMA Star this month – number 5 for Fred and number 6 for Randy!
